Gross Revenue vs. Release Month Per Year

1. There is a strong relationship between tickets sold and gross revenue — movies with higher ticket sales consistently generate higher revenue.
2. Between 2019 and 2022, monthly tickets sold show a seasonal pattern: rising steadily, dipping mid-year, then rising again toward year-end.
3. Major distributors like Walt Disney, Warner Bros., Sony Pictures, and Universal dominate both revenue and movie release counts.
4. Release month does not show a clear correlation with box office success — high-grossing movies are spread across different months.
